

Dear Friends,

We are very sorry to inform you that our April 5 concert featuring mezzo-soprano Chrystal E. Williams and pianist Ronaldo Rolim has been cancelled. To protect its students and the community, our host Eastern University has cancelled all McInnis Auditorium arts events for the remainder of the school year to combat the spread of COVID-19. While we regret that our concert has been affected by this crisis, we are in complete agreement that the health of the community, including our artists and audience, must be the highest priority.

You can use your tickets for this concert to attend a future Tri-County Concerts concert (no formal exchange is required), obtain a refund, or donate the value of your tickets as a tax-deductible contribution to support Tri-County Concerts and our mission. Please email us at tricityconcerts@gmail.com to request a refund or make a donation, or with any questions.

Thank you for your understanding and for your support of our program, and we hope to see you at our 2020-2021 Emerging Artists Series. Information about our new season will be announced when we have confirmed the details. In the meantime, please enjoy these performances by Chrystal E. Williams of some of Lorca's Spanish songs and the spirituals she was planning to sing for us.

Stay well and best regards from all of us at Tri-County Concerts,

Deena Schneider, President
