For over sixty years, the Tri-County Concerts Association has served the Chester, Delaware, and Montgomery County communities by fostering the performance and appreciation of the highest quality solo and ensemble chamber music. It is the only chamber music series in the area run by an independent community board. Tri-County Concerts is unique in presenting recitals both by emerging professional artists and by promising local youths.

The association has been particularly adept at promoting the careers of exceptionally talented artists on the verge of achieving major recognition. Emerging artists who have performed in Tri-County Concerts include William Kapell, Marian Anderson, Paul Badura-Skoda, Eugene Istomin, the Budapest String Quartet, Leontyne Price, the Juilliard String Quartet, and Vladimir Sokoloff. Many of these artists have shown appreciation for this early support by returning years later to perform again for the Tri-County community audience.

Part of the Tri-County mission is to reach a widely varied audience with subsidized ticket arrangements. In this manner, many young people have received their introduction to chamber music, conservatory students their inspiration, and members of retirement communities sheer musical enjoyment in exposure to world-class artists. Ticket prices are kept low to enable families to share a rich cultural experience.

OUR HISTORY

In 1941, chamber music in the Philadelphia suburbs received a remarkable boost from Ellen Winsor and Rebecca Winsor Evans when the two sisters decided to sponsor the original Curtis String Quartet in a free public concert at Radnor Junior High School. The musicians were enthusiastically received and the Tri-County Concerts Association was successfully launched. Two years later, the fledgling organization held its first Youth Music Festival and assumed a vital position in the area’s cultural life.

From the early 1950’s to the late 1970’s, the driving force behind the Tri-County Concerts Association was Mrs. Guida Smith. Her energies were devoted to bringing top musical artists to the community, as well as relatively unknown virtuosi who later became internationally renowned. The Youth Music Festival proved a major springboard to young area talent during this period. Several winners went on to principal positions with such leading orchestras as the Pittsburgh Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and the San Francisco Symphony. One well-known Festival winner was Metropolitan Opera star Anna Moffo. Another was soprano Clamma Dale, who later achieved stardom following her much acclaimed lead role in the Houston Opera Company’s Broadway production of Porgy and Bess.

In 1979 Jean Wetherill of Radnor assumed leadership of the Association. She fostered the organization’s continued health during a period of transition. That year, the Association became a nonprofit corporation in order to strengthen its mission and its increasingly important fund-raising functions. When the Radnor Middle School underwent renovations in 1980, the concert series was relocated to Delaware County Community College. After a brief return to Wayne Auditorium in 1987, the series moved to Centennial Hall at Haverford College in 1989, then to the Main Line Unitarian Church in 1992 and now to our present location at Eastern University since 1999. Throughout these changes, the tradition of high music standards has continued. In recent years our focus has been on “Emerging Artists,” selected by our artist selection committee. These are talented young artists who have demonstrated exceptional abilities and preparation, and who will, in a few seasons, become important personalities on the music scene. Our goal is to provide exposure at our concerts and a modest stipend which will afford needed assistance at a crucial time in their careers. At the same time we afford our audiences the opportunity to see and hear tomorrow’s stars.

Hailed by The New York Times as “stunning” and “musicians worth keeping an eye on,” the Vinca Quartet is a charismatic young string quartet committed to forging bonds between audiences and performers by sharing their own love of chamber music through the highest caliber performances.

First Place winners in the 2008 International Chamber Music Ensemble Competition, the Vincas were also recipients of a special award at the 2008 Premio Paolo Borciani International Quartet Competition in Reggio Emilia, Italy, which enabled them to travel to Germany to study with the Artemis Quartet and perform on German national radio. The Vincas are also prizewinners in the 2006 Plowman Chamber Music Competition and the 2005 Fischoff National Chamber Music Competition, and finalists in the 2006 Chesapeake International Chamber Music Competition.

The quartet has performed in major concert halls including Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall, Sprague Memorial Hall at Yale University, Aspen's Harris Hall, Vail's Vilar Arts Center at Beaver Creek, and the Weikersheim Castle in Germany. They have performed twice on the Takacs Quartet Series in Boulder, CO. The Vinca Quartet has worked with many prominent quartets in workshops and festivals both nationally and internationally. As the graduate quartet-in-residence at the University of Colorado at Boulder, they worked with the Takacs Quartet for three years. They have also worked closely with the Artemis, Colorado, Emerson, Juilliard, Muir, and Tokyo Quartets. Recent festival appearances have included Carnegie Hall Professional Training Workshops, The International Musician’s Seminar at Prussia Cove in Cornwall, England, the Norfolk Chamber Music Festival, the Juilliard Quartet Seminar, the Banff Centre Chamber Music Festival, Soundfest Chamber Music Festival on Cape Cod, and the Deer Valley Music Festival’s Emerging Quartet and Composers Seminar.

Strongly committed to inspiring new audiences and strengthening communities through their own passion and dedication to chamber music, the Vincas have helped launch concert series catering to communities overlooked by major classical groups. In 2007-2008, they helped to establish Music Haven, a tuition-free strings and mentorship program devoted to transforming the lives of urban youth and their families in New Haven, CT through music. As part of their ongoing educational mission, the Vinca Quartet offers lectures, performances, and interactive workshops for audiences of all ages. In 2008-2009, they were the resident quartet at the Westport Suzuki School in Westport, CT. Through residencies with the Aspen Music Festival, the Bravo! Vail Valley Music Festival, and the Peaks to Plains Suzuki Institute, the quartet has coached many young musicians.
The Gold Medalist of the 2006 International Russian Music Piano Competition, Yukiko Sekino is a pianist of versatility and wide-ranging interests. Her playing has been praised as “thrilling, inspirational” by Florida Sun-Sentinel and noted for “elegance of line, leaping energy” by San Jose Mercury News. Since making her debut with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at age sixteen, she has appeared as a soloist with orchestras including the New World Symphony, Harvard-Radcliffe Orchestra, Stony Brook Symphony Orchestra, Lakeside Symphony, Nova Vista Symphony, and Suburban Symphony.

Performing the Rachmaninoff Piano Concert No. 3 during the final round of the International Russian Music Piano Competition, Ms. Sekino was awarded, through audience vote, the Public Prize in addition to the first prize. Other competition successes include those at the Japanese-American Association of New York Competition, MTNA National Yamaha Competition, and concerto competitions at SUNY Stony Brook, New World Symphony, and Harvard University.

An avid chamber musician, Ms. Sekino has been invited to Tanglewood, Kneisel Hall, Music Academy of the West, and Thy (Denmark) festivals. While a fellow at Tanglewood Music Center, she received the Jackson Prize, and her solo and chamber performances were broadcast on WQXR-FM New York’s “Music from Tanglewood” Series for two years. She recently completed a three-year term as the pianist of New World Symphony under the direction of Michael Tilson Thomas. During her tenure, she appeared in numerous chamber music and orchestra concerts in Florida and New York.

Ms. Sekino is an enthusiastic performer of new music. She has been a soloist in such unusual 20th century works as Xenakis’ Eonta and Palimpsest, and has premiered works in New York, Miami, and at Tanglewood. She was a member of the Stony Brook Contemporary Chamber Players from 2002 - 2005.

Ms. Sekino is a graduate of Harvard University, where she majored in biochemistry, the Juilliard School, where she received a master’s in piano performance, and the State University of New York at Stony Brook, where she obtained her doctorate. Her teachers include Gilbert Kalish, Seymour Lipkin, Robert Levin, and Eda Shlyam. Ms. Sekino has just completed a year as a Visiting Assistant Professor of Music at Colby College in Maine.

Giora Schmidt appears by arrangement with Colbert Artists Management, Inc. 111 West 57th Street, New York, NY 10019

Hailed by The Miami Herald for recalling “Perlman in his prime,” violinist Giora Schmidt is quickly establishing himself as a virtuoso of the grand tradition, with a distinctive sound. His performances are illuminated by a richness of color and effortless technique, making Giora one of the most commanding young artists on the stage today.

He has appeared with numerous symphony orchestras across North America, including Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, New Jersey, Fort Worth, San Diego, Vancouver, Toronto, and the Israel Philharmonic. In 2003, he made his Carnegie Hall debut performing the Barber Violin Concerto with the New York Youth Symphony.

In recital, Giora has performed at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, the Ravinia Rising Stars series, San Francisco Performances, the Louvre Museum in Paris, and Tokyo’s Musashino Cultural Hall. A passionate chamber musician, he has collaborated with eminent musicians including Yefim Bronfman, Itzhak Perlman, Pinchas Zukerman, Lynn Harrell, Ralph Kirshbaum and Michael Tree. He is a regular participant at the Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival, and frequently performs with pianist Navah Perlman and cellist Zuill Bailey as part of the Perlman/Schmidt/Bailey Trio.

Born in 1983 to professional Israeli musicians, Giora began playing the violin at the age of four. At 13, he met Maestro Itzhak Perlman at the Perlman Music Program and at 16 was invited by Perlman to study under him full-time at Juilliard in the Pre-College Division. Giora continued his studies with Perlman at The Juilliard School and with the late Dorothy DeLay. Giora was the First Prize winner of the Philadelphia Orchestra’s Greenfield Competition in 2000, the recipient of a 2003 Avery Fisher Career Grant, and in 2005 won the Classical Recording Foundation’s Samuel Sanders Award. His debut recital disc Vocalise is currently available on Allegro/Endeavour Classics.

Michal Kalekin-Schmidt, pianist and cellist, is currently on the faculty at Haverford and Bryn Mawr Colleges and the University of Pennsylvania. She received her doctorate from Temple University and master’s from the University of the Arts. As an undergraduate, she studied at the Curtis Institute of Music and the Royal Academy of Music in London, where she received an Artist Diploma for both piano and cello. She has studied piano with Claude Frank, Peter Serkin, and Raquel Adonaylo, and cello with David Soyer, Lorne Munroe, and Jeffrey Solow. She has participated in master classes and chamber music coachings with William Pleeth, Mischa Maisky, Lynn Harrell, Joseph Gingold, Félix Galimir, and Karen Tuttle.

Mical has performed in Canada, England, France, Israel, South Korea, Sweden as well as in the U.S. In 2006 and 2008 she was one of an international group of cellists on the faculty of the International Cello Festival in Israel. She is a member of the Network of New Music in Philadelphia. In the current season, Michal will perform recitals dedicated to the works of Robert Schumann, marking the 200th anniversary of his birth. She also performs at Haverford College’s Music and Conversations and at the University of Pennsylvania’s College House series.
Since beginning his professional music career in 1985, Petar Jankovic has delighted audiences at recitals and enlightened students in his master classes throughout Europe and the United States. As a performer at major competitions around the globe, his universally evocative sound has won high regard with the world’s classical music community, and as a result, Jankovic has garnered numerous prestigious awards.

Jankovic began his guitar studies at age eight in his native Yugoslavia, (presently Serbia) where he later earned a degree in classical guitar from the renowned Music Academy in Belgrade. While in Serbia, he became a two-time gold medal, silver medal, and two-time bronze medal winner at the National Music Competition. At age sixteen, he delivered his first professional performance, and by age twenty, the Community College in Belgrade invited the young, talented Jankovic to share his expertise with beginning classical guitar students. This marked the beginning of a distinguished teaching career that has developed alongside his successful performing career.

He went on to earn a master’s degree from the Indiana University School of Music, and in the mid-90s, he pursued the esteemed Artist Diploma Degree under the guidance of Maestro Ernesto Bitetti. Still dedicated to sharing his talent through both performing and teaching, Jankovic developed a guitar program at Franklin College of Indiana in 1997. At present, he lives in Indiana and is a professor at Indiana University Jacobs School of Music in Bloomington, IN.

A rising star among the world’s top musicians, Jankovic has never paused from honing his skills and developing artistically. In 1998, he released “Romantico,” a CD exploring the sounds of the romantic Spanish and Latino-American world, and featuring Jankovic’s interpretations of pieces by famous composers such as Albeniz, Torroba, Pipo, Piazzolla, and Ponce. Commenting on this release, Serbian Studies, USA wrote: “Jankovic’s interpretation points to his interest in presenting the inherent beauty of the musical phrase with great care...His interpretation testifies to his artistic maturity and dedication to the essence of the musical content of the works.” In 2002, Jankovic released his “Bogdanovic, Brouwer, Dyens” CD featuring works by the most prominent classical guitar composers living today. Luis Zea, a well-known Venezuelan composer and guitarist, perhaps best captured the essence of Jankovic’s style when exclaiming, “He is a natural poet!” In 2008 Jankovic released his “Leyenda” CD featuring works by Villa-Lobos, Albeniz, Tansman, Granados, Dyens and Merlin.
